

~INTRODUCING JOSEPH LEARNING LAB~

WHAT: Some of you may remember me talking about the nonprofit educational outreach project that I planned to start after retirement. Well.... it is after retirement, and I would like to share the latest information. It has been a lot of work and a long process to get through the beginning stages. Although, it was a lengthy process, I am very pleased to announce that the Learning Lab is ready for use at our nonprofit facility.

Joseph Learning Lab is a Nonprofit 501(c)(3) educational outreach program. Our mission is to close the learning gap, reduce the dropout rate, develop students of all ages and diverse backgrounds, and allow them an equal opportunity for learning and personal growth.

Top three (3) services offered in the Learning Lab at our facility:

- 1) Professional Tutoring and mentoring, allowing students adequate time, attention and resources needed to learn, with the goal of improving grades and test scores in core courses.
- 2) Computer Skills Training so that students are computer literate, and also technology savvy.
- 3) Elementary to College Ready Programs administered to enhance the learning skills and abilities of students for the next academic level, including educational field trips, and fun Fit-sports to address the nation's child obesity issue.

WHY: There is a noticeable increase in the academic learning gap that influences the student dropout rate. Because of the increase, a decision was made to put together a plan that we use to reach out and help children who are being left behind the learning curve.

WHERE: We are located in Signal Hill, California and support children in the Long Beach community, and surrounding districts in Los Angeles County.

WHEN: The Learning Lab is used for tutoring and mentoring students in after school sessions and summer/educational enrichment programs. We are accepting grants, donations, sponsors and volunteers to help us continue to serve the community.

I believe that a community can be measured by the importance that it places on the growth of its children. Let's be that community! Feel free to help, and share this information with those who may have a desire to give back, so our children can succeed. You Can Help By Donating Or Sponsoring A Child
